

POROUS MEDIA GAS BURNER

Abstract

A porous media gas burner is adapted to operate in a pressurized environment. The burner may have three zones: a mixing zone, an ignition zone and a reaction zone. The burner may be used as a downhole burner in a formation heat treatment method for oil and gas wells.